DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 1-64, 66-76 and 79-82 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No.20050512.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 77 and 78 are objected to because of the following informalities and/or defects:

In claim 77, the term of "the second direction" lacks a sufficient antecedent base in the claim.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 65, 77 and 78, as being best understood in view of the claim objections above, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Takeya (Takeya et al., US 2002/0064195).

Takeya discloses a light-emitting device (Figs. 4-7), comprising: layers grown on a substrate (13; GaN-based); and, active region (under the ridge 19 in Fig. 7) formed in a first region which has a dislocation density lower than that of second regions (regions having dislocations M1 and/or M2), wherein the substrate.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. References B-H are cited as being related to an LED substrate.
